Program Notes

An Episcopal deacon friend of mine had suggested that he always wanted to see Romans 8:35-39 set to music even though his small church had no choir. Still, I wanted to write a choral anthem but didn't want to duplicate topics or verses that had already been abundantly set. As it turned out, the piece was first performed by the Harvard Choral Fellows, conducted by Carson Cooman, at The Memorial Church of Harvard University during Easter Week 2012. It also was selected for performance at the Christian Fellowship of Art Music Composers Annual Conference at Mississippi College, Clinton, MS in 2013.

Text Romans 8:35-39

Who shall separate us from the love of Christ?
Shall tribulation, or distress, or persecution,
or famine, or nakedness, or peril or sword?
As it is written, For Your sake we are killed all day long;
we are accounted as sheep for the slaughter.
Though, in all these things we are more than conquerors through Him who loved us. For I am persuaded, that neither death nor life, nor life, nor angels, nor principalities, nor powers, nor things present, nor things to come, nor height, nor depth,
nor any other creature shall be able to separate us from the love of God, which is in Christ Jesus, our Lord.
